January 2011

An old favourite of ours is Frank Kozik (US). Kozik has been described as "one of the rock world's top poster artists" and his innumerable gig portfolio is testament to that. Bright, punchy silkscreen prints... yum! 'Bunny Love' (above). Print $150.

Awesome Kaiju Print Suite (above) by Jeff (Greasebat) Lamm. This print suite comes with four, 2-col, silkscreen prints housed in a hand-made, laser-etched bamboo box. 30 suites worldwide. $195.

'How is the Empire?' features 12 full-color reproductions of Scott Musgrove's delightfully strange fauna and undiscovered animals. This is a bound postcard book with removable cards. $29.

We welcome Massachusetts based artist Dan McCarthy to the gallery. We love his unique imagery and skill in silhouettes and lighting techniques. He often throws out glow-in-the-dark editions too which we think rock! 'Cold Moon' (left), 6-colour silkscreen print, available framed only.

'Shige' (above) is a massive book, 328 pages, on the life and works of Shige, one of Japan's top tattoo artists. $250. Also new on the bookshelf is 'Animal Love Summer', Marion Peck's first full monograph (below). This beautiful hardbound edition features 118 of Marion's finest paintings from 1993 to 2010. $75. Now in its second printing and back in stock, the deluxe, oversized hardcover book featuring the exquisite 'Fables' covers by James Jean (right).

Being fans of polynesian pop culture, specifically 'Tiki' we went gooey when Seymour first showed us pics of these hand-made sculptures he crafted from polymer clay. Clever tiki creatures with a little maori influence and a uniqueness that is all Seymour! Sold as a set.

We have many prints by Seymour back in stock also, go see our website for availability - if a print is out of stock we can get it in with our next order. Seymour is currently back in the country with his wife visiting family and friends. The exhibition we planned has been postponed - alas Seymour ran out of time to get some new works together for it but we'll do something in the future for sure. In the meantime, check out his latest amazing works via his blog: <http://seymourart.blogspot.com>
