You Asked For It #23

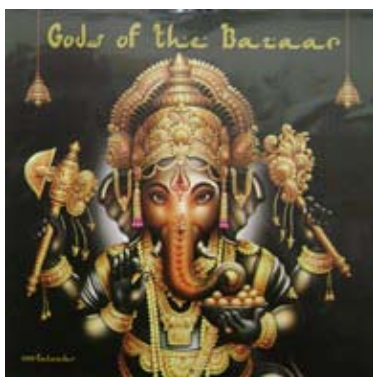

Eyeball Kicks

October 2008

2009 - Bring It!

Calendars have arrived. We covered all our favourite subjects; pop, pulp, atomic, cars, monsters and kustom culture. As usual, we only got ones and twos of each design so to view the best selection be fast.

Moai Suave

Over the past month you nearly brought up all of our tiki mugs - go cocktails in the sun! So we have restocked with some old favourites plus some fancy new designs including this one designed by hepkat Derek Yaniger!

Free Pin!

Happy Birthday to us.

Eyeball Kicks celebrated three years trading on 1st October! Three years peddling our intoxicating mix of art, literature, collectables and accessories. You may have noticed us morph a little over the years and we see a few more changes to the stock we carry to come, as we seek to survive this so-called recession and make conscious and ethical choices for the way forward. We hope you stay onboard!

New Giclee Prints

Pacmans Passing by Johnny Murphy.

Toxic Sludge Bunny by Terrormesue.

And, Day of Wrath is one of two prints by stencil artist Kiran X.

Death Riddles

Our Halloween window exhibition this year is by Wellington artist, Audrey Slater. Over 60 mini works of original art now on display and for sale.

Starts Tomorrow!

The 2nd Annual Charity Tattoo Show is on in Lower Hutt this weekend and we will be there with with a bunch of stuff especially for you inked fiends. We're also sponsors of category 13 - the 'Best Small Tattoo'. This year also involves the Body Art Rocks competition which is in it's fifth year. And if that isn't enough, there's a Hot Rod display out front too! For more information go to: www.tattoostu.com

Many of the items in this mailer are available on our website. Layby and gift vouchers available too!
